

Dear Sir/Madam,

With this letter, I would like to express my strong motivation to become student at Bangor University and put forward my candidacy for enrolment in Creative Technologies BSc (Hons) programme.

My name is Peter Mihailov and as a determined student in the most important final year at Technology School Electronic System, governing body Technical University-Sofia, I am going to graduate in May, 2019 and I am looking across the hard-hitting reality – our life. My major subjects were not only associated with the fundamental computer science skills, which I got passionate about it, but they put a concept of what to be a human is. In fact, my study made me much more clear about my ambitions and what I should strive for, which is the first step towards achieving my dreams. Currently, I live with my family in Sofia, Bulgaria. I strongly believe that University of Wales, Bangor offers the best international environment and creates many future careers opportunities to advance my skills at top industry level.

This course will equip me with a solid grounding in the technical skills, which ensure international competitive professional capacity and industry valuable expertise. The academic environment, which offers a different dimension to student life, and the fact that I will reach the academy staff, who have a worldwide reputation in computer graphics is the key, which I am looking for. Your university has good reputation in the field of business and makes me feel I am in the right place, which motivates me to become a young person ready for big things.

Bangor University seems to be as an exciting place for anyone with a heart of creativity and modern perspective. The fact that there is wide-range of support service and the variety of societies to join shows me your willingness of working not only with the mass of people, but with the individuality, which easily won my admiration for. The facilities you offer to students and the practical environment give me an ambition for one better future, in which I will be enough prepared to extend my potential to the greatness, because success is all about consistency, hard work and ability to affect those around in a positive way.

I am going to start one big life-changing journey and having chosen yours programme as a starting point for my future, I regard is the best option. In my point of view the country, having a low unemployment rate, can suggests the top place, along with much more successes, compared to other countries. Carrying out through a research, I am finding a prodigious advantage of choosing exactly University of Wales, which has reputation as a center of excellence, but also collaborative culture that welcomes everyone. The wide variety of professional and social networks give me the opportunity to settle in fast and feel the great quality of life so that I can fluently develop my professional career. This is why I am confident and fully conscious about my choice.

Thank you for taking the time to consider my application. I hope see you you soon.

Yours faithfully,

Peter Mihailov
